Next Wednesday evening the city council, in all probability, will be presented with an ordinance, prepared by its administrative committee, recommending that business license fees be increased to purchase off-street parking lots for the commercial district.

Carmel Business Association members requested this action and asked for double fees for five years. Half of this revenue they want the city to earmark for parking lots. They also asked the council to match the funds raised in this manner, and that this money, also, be earmarked to purchase parking lots.

The present council inherited this matter from the former council which allowed the Business Association's proposal to stay on the consent calendar until its last meeting, then suddenly moved it to the agenda and authorized preparation of the above ordinance.

The action was a complete surprise. The public understood that the parking lot proposal would await the report of a planning commission study on the need for parking in the business district, also a program for acquiring and locating such parking, if needed.

The two new councilmen, in their campaign statements, doubted the need for city-owned business district parking lots. They can be outvoted by the three hold-over members of the council, who voted in favor of the ordinance on April 4, when the ordinance comes up for passage.

In a report to the council on the Business Association proposal, the city clerk estimated that if the city's matching contribution were raised by land assessment it could cost each property owner 26 cents per each $100 valuation of his land for the next five years.

Not all members of the Business Association favor the double business license fee proposal. Many citizens are against increasing taxes to provide parking for the business district, if such is proposed for the matching revenue. There has been no opportunity to voice opposition to the ordinance which will probably be presented next Wednesday.

The action of the previous council is contemptible in view of this. The attempt to railroad the matter through at its last meeting, with the knowledge that holdover members, who approved the measure, could outvote incoming ones, adds to the contemptibility.

Fortunately, the public will have a chance to speak when the ordinance comes up for first and second reading.

We hope the public does, loudly. Whether it approves the ordinance or not, the public should appear to protest the high-handed action of a council which put a big, splotchy blot on Carmel's good government record for 100-125 off-street parking spaces to cost approximately half a million dollars.

Triple-Header Opens Little League 1962 Season In Carmel On Saturday

Carmel Little League's 1962 season gets underway this Saturday morning at 11:00 o'clock with the Turner & McElDowney nine squaring off against the league's newcomer, P. A. Macs, in the first game of triple-header action to set off the season. Following the 11:00 o'clock game, there will be short opening ceremonies conducted by President Mark Johnston, the hard-working director of Little League activities for the 1962 season. At 1:15 o'clock, Sport Shop will tangle with Boys' Town, and at 3:30, the Pilot Market gang will test Wilder & Jones.

With each team ably equipped with veterans and dandy rookies uncovered in the pre-season try-outs, the 1962 Little League season looms as one of the finest in the six-year history of LL in Carmel. Last year's winner, San Carlos Realty, has retired from competition and has been replaced by the P. A. Macs nine (P. A. and Lew McCreery's Insurance Agency). There are several new managers and assistants in the league with enough veteran mentors returning to keep the rookie managers informed on how things are done in the highly successful Carmel LL. Gerald Artellan, a hard-working Farm League manager for several years, takes over as manager of the Sport Shop with assistance from Harold Grice and Clayton Neill. The veteran combo of Newt Goodrich and Dick Rohr return to guide the potent Boys' Town aggregation for another year. Lee McGuckin, a guiding light in the Farm League, takes charge of the new P. A. Macs club. Pilot Market will again be masterminded by the wily duo of Art Carpenter and Floyd Carter; Jim Kelsey and Dave Hansen will pull the strings for the colorful Turner & McElDowney entry, and the Wilder & Jones players will take their in-

Street Commissioner Herbert B. Blanks reports that all the upheaval at the south end of the beach is a kelp-burying operation. The city is constructing a seawall in this area and a bulldozer was required. It seemed a good opportunity, he says, to get rid of the three-foot deposit of kelp while the bulldozer was available, thus freeing the beach area from flies and unpleasant odor.

In addition to the seawall work, city street department employees this week, repaired the damaged flight of steps from Scenic Drive to the beach in this location. The 40-foot seawall is a joint project with the county to arrest bank erosion. The city's share is $500, which is being paid from a long-standing fund with a balance of some $1,500.

Opposition Rises To Parking Lot Financing Plan

Probable opposition to a proposed ordinance to finance the purchase of off-street parking, in part, by increases in business license taxes, appeared last night. Councilman Herbert B. Blanks stated he had a "very strange feeling" that the ordinance proposed on April 4 by the old council "was just a move," and asked that the matter be taken out of committee and held until such time as the planning commission reports on their study of the business district parking situation which they were requested to make by the council.

Post Office Places Drive-Up Mail Drops In Business District

In order to relieve parking congestion at the post office, two drive-up mail drops have been installed in the business district. One is situated at the northeast corner of Lincoln Street and Ocean Avenue next to the Harrison Memorial Library book drop. The other is placed at the northwest corner of Mission and Ocean. Both the red and blue mail boxes are located in bus zones so that they are available at all times except those periods when passengers are getting on or off a bus.

These first class mailing conveniences are the result of efforts of the Carmel Business Association which requested permission from the city council to have them installed, also asked Postmaster Fred Strong to petition the post office department for the two drops.

The mail slots are extended over the sidewalk curb so that it is not necessary to leave an automobile when inserting letters.

First 1962 Dog Tag Issued To Mayor's Unofficial Assistant

The unofficial assistant to Mayor Eben Whittlesey was the first dog in Carmel to be issued a 1962 license, Assistant City Clerk Arthur Plaxton reports.

However, this is not the first year Guide Dog Regan has worn Carmel's first-issued dog tag on her collar. Mayor Whittlesey has made a point of seeing that Regan, each year since she came to Carmel, should have this honor, by being the first to apply at City Hall when dog licensing time arrives. Last year owners of 449 dogs followed Mayor Whittlesey's lead, Mr. Plaxton states.

This year's dog licenses are now due, he emphasizes, and until May 30 may be obtained for $2.00, thereafter, $3.00. Expiration date for 1961 licenses was April 30.

Tuesday 34 dogs were licensed and 54 vaccinated against rabies at the annual City Hall "lawn party for dogs," according to Mr. Plaxton's figures. The affair was a success, he adds, there were no untoward incidents and all participants were in gay spirits.

BOY SCOUT DRIVE

Boy Scout Troop 86 will conduct a bottle drive Saturday to raise funds for camping and outing equipment. Residents of Carmel and vicinity who have empty bottles returnable for change, which they would like the troop to pick up, may call MA 4-2920 or MA 4-3392.

Mayor Eben Whittlesey told Mr. Blanks that such action could not be taken last night, but could occur at the regular council meeting next week. At this time, Mayor Whittlesey and Councilman Francis Whitaker hope to have the ordinance prepared for its first consideration by the council.

Councilman Blanks, elected to the council on April 10, was joined in apparent opposition to the ordinance by Councilman James C. Buffington Jr., also new to the council. The latter remarked that the present council "might not see the same way" as the former council and wish to change the ordinance.

The ordinance is based on a proposal of the Carmel Business Association. This body asked the city council to double business license fees for a period of five years, earmark half of this city revenue for the purchase of parking lots, also match the latter amount with city funds earmarked for the off-street lots.

On April 4, Councilman Francis Whitaker moved that this matter be referred to the committee on administration to prepare an ordinance in conjunction with the city clerk and city attorney. The motion was seconded by then Councilman Whittlesey and the motion carried. The other hold-over councilman, Frank Putnam, voted in favor of the motion.

The motion was a surprise move at the last meeting of the old council. The matter, that evening, was moved from the consent calendar, where it had languished for several months, to the agenda.

CUBS TO CLEAN BEACH

The 40 members of Carmel Cub Scout Pack 48 have undertaken an annual project, to clean Carmel Beach after Easter vacation and before the summer holidays.

They will carry out this project for the first time on Saturday morning, assisted by their fathers, according to Pack 48 Cubmaster Jim Suttie.

Each Cub and his father will gather at 8:45 o'clock in the morning at the foot of Santa Lucia Street. There gunny sacks will be distributed and the group will comb the beach for debris as far north as Ocean Avenue. A pick-up truck driving along Scenic Drive will keep pace with the clean-up gang so that filled gunny sacks may be emptied quickly. All the debris will finally be deposited in city street department trucks at the foot of Ocean Avenue and carried off to the dump.

THE TOM BROWN STORY

From teacher training to Naval Officer to the insurance business, is an encouraging story for those who hesitate to learn something new after a long career in a completely foreign profession.

Tom graduated from the University of Oklahoma, planning to be a teacher after majoring in English and French. But it was not to be — duty called and he joined the Navy in 1942. He served with distinction until 1954, resigning from the Navy as a Lieutenant Commander and entered the business world in that year.

Tom decided that Life Insurance and General Insurance offered a difficult but challenging career and set out immediately to prove that this was true. Beginning in Monterey, he shortly moved to Carmel, where he entered the insurance department of the Carmel Realty Company and assumed full responsibility for their insurance department in 1957.

In 1959 he started his own business. In a short span of eight years he has built an enviable record, receiving honors in both the General Insurance and Life Insurance fields. His business is now one of the largest in Carmel, the staff, from an original one, has grown to fifteen.

The Life Insurance fraternity has honored him by making him a member of "The Million Dollar Round Table," and this year his efforts were further rewarded by receiving the "Most Outstanding Agency in the United States Award," from the State Life Insurance Company of Indianapolis.

Tom Brown has taken time to serve the community as a vestryman in his church, Rotarian, Red Cross chairman, and as president of the Carmel Association of Insurance Agents.

Tom has three children and a charming wife, who has been an inspiration to him during what must have been a very busy and tense eight years.

OCAL DIVING AND SWIMMING CHAMPIONSHIPS AT HS POOL

Top swimmers and divers of the Coast Counties Athletic League will gather at the Carmel High pool this Friday and Saturday to settle the diving and swimming championships for the 1962 season. All the diving competition will take place Friday afternoon with the first dive slated for 3:30 o'clock. The individual swimming events and relays will get underway at 10:00 o'clock Saturday morning with the powerful Salinas High tankmen favored to emerge as the 1962 champions. The Cow-boys are undefeated in dual meet competition this season and figure to pack too much depth for the other schools. Monterey High is given a slight chance to upset the Cowboys, but the Treadadores will have to show improved relay strength to get the job done.

Coach Jim Agan's Carmel lightweight squad figures to be close in the limited division and could splash by the favored North Salinas and Watsonville lightweights. Lack of diving strength will handicap both the Carmel lightweights and varsity, but the well-balanced squads will pick up enough points in the swimming events to stay in the running.

Carmel High's winless baseball squad will have a chance to even the score with the King City Mustangs this Saturday morning at the Padre diamond when Coach Dave Klein brings his fifth place team to Carmel for a return match with Coach Hadley Hicks's crew. The Padres traveled to King City last Saturday and dropped a 3-2 decision to the Mustangs in a game that was touch-and-go all the way. Carmel outhit the King City swingers, 8 to 3, but couldn't muster a sustained rally to overcome the three unearned runs earned by the Mustangs. David Maher, Lindy Mahrt, and Mike Escondon rapped out two safe blows apiece to pace the Carmel hitters while the steady pitching of Bob Holmes and Skip Michelson buoyed up the morale of the local preps where they feel confident they can turn the tables on the Mustangs in this Saturday's return go.

dropping a close decision to the King City varsity, the Carmel junior-varsity was enjoying a 7-4 win over the Blue & White jayvees.

With Steve Johnson pitching fourth hit ball and Jack DeWitt smashing a tape-measure homer, the Little Padres had easy sailing against the Ponies and took another step toward their second straight junior-varsity title.

San Lorenzo Valley High continues to pace the close B-division chase, closely followed by the classy Pacific Grove Breakers. Top pitching effort during the past week was Bob Robert's no-hitter against the Gonzales Spartans in the feature B-division game. The husky fireballer overpowered the Spartans with his blazing fast ball as he moved through the Gonzales batting order without the semblance of a base hit.

Circle Theatre Production Of A Raisin In The Sun Is Superb, Poignant Success

Generally excellent and occasionally superb are words which apply to the Golden Bough Circle Theatre's current production, A Raisin in the Sun, directed by Nick Zanides. The prize-winning Lorraine Hansberry play which opened last week end, presents with deep sympathy and high humor the problems of a slum-dwelling Negro family on Chicago's South Side, which inherits the insurance money of its deceased father and along with it the challenges which eventually permit the married son of the household to accede to a proud maturity.

Flemen Hardy, already a favorite on Peninsula stages, is responsible for a stunning performance as Walter Lee, the son, the dissatisfied chauffeur who reaches for a dream and sees it crumble.

A match for Hardy is Sarah Ector as Lena, the wise mama of the family. At Sunday night's performance Mrs. Ector reached such a poignancy in her grief-laden soliloquy which closes the second act, that the Circle audience sat for several slow seconds in electrified silence, reluctant to break the mood she and, earlier, Hardy had so skillfully created. But when the applause did come, it came in full measure.

Even some late adjustments in casting, which were perhaps responsible for a certain unevenness in the play, are simply not worth dwelling on in the face of the overall success of the job this group did.

Ann Johnson, an attractive Peninsula teenager, exhibited a seasoned sense of comic timing as the college-girl sister of Walter Lee, and young Gary Millsap as Travis, son of Walter Lee, was equally surprising with his perfect command of the role of schoolboy.

Played by Frances Scott was Ruth, the young wife and mother whose cool self-possession explodes in exultant shouts at the thought of moving from the slum to a home of her own. She added beauty to the play both as a woman and as an actress.

And Russ Eddy, in the difficult role of Karl Lindner, the embarrassed, double-talking housing segregationist from the neighborhood the Negro family plans to move into, again proved his worth as an actor before Peninsula audiences, as he has many times in the past. Except that this Eddy role was perhaps one of his very finest.

Even actors with in- and -out characters to portray added much. Witness Luther Chateau as Bobo. Robert Goodwin and Keiser Richard Smith played the roles of suitors to the vivacious and hilarious Beneatha, the sister.

A Raisin in the Sun, for those who don't know the play from its Eastern success, is neither high tragedy nor high comedy, but a little of both—like life itself.

Prominently offered on the program is the Langston Hughes poem from which the title derives: "What happens to a dream deferred? Does it dry up like a raisin in the sun?"

Just as apt a quotation which might be used in connection with this production is John Steinbeck's "... when you open your mouth to laugh, something like a hand squeezes your heart."

It is the great good fortune of Peninsula theatergoers that A Raisin in the Sun will be playing on succeeding Friday, Saturday and Sunday evenings at 8:30 o'clock.—R.P.

Afghanistan Journey, a documentary film with human understanding, in color, will be presented Tuesday evening at 8:00 o'clock in Sunset School auditorium by Raphael Green, above.

The motion picture is an exciting adventure in a rugged land, a key country that extends for 700 miles directly along the Iron Curtain. Traveling by jeep and air, Raphael Green lived among the Afghans. Concentrating on subjects of human interest, he photographed the friendly people of Afghanistan whose strange customs are matched only by their warm hospitality.

To produce this motion picture, he navigated mountain roads at High baseball coach, is the pitching star for the Santa Cruz club, ranking as one of the finest softball pitchers in Northern California. Gene Zinani, veteran Carmel hurler, will oppose the rugged Richards in tonight's fracas.

The local softballers evened the score with the A to Z Sport Shop Tuesday night, blanking the classy Seaside nine, 2 to 0, in their best performance of the 1962 season. The Merchants actually stole the game when Hump Ramirez and Manager Artellan both moved around the bases on passed balls and stole home to rack up two runs for Carmel. Gene Zinani and Paul Ricketson collaborated to pitch the win, allowing only four hits between them over the seven-inning route.

PONY LEAGUE

The Carmel Pony League will hold its second tryout tomorrow evening at the Carmel High School football field, starting at 5:00 o'clock. All eligible players for the Pony League who have not yet signed up for the season are asked to be present. There was an excellent turnout last Saturday both for the tryouts and for signups, but the league needs more players.

CONCERT ASSOCIATION ANNOUNCES SERIES

Mrs. Clyde F. Dyke, president of the Monterey Peninsula Concert Association, announced today the artists appearing during the 1962-1963 concert series. Five concerts will be presented at the Pacific Grove Junior High School Auditorium: Gabor Rejto, cello, October 10; Panhellenions, singers and dancers of Greece, November 17; Mary Costa, soprano, January 5; Sexteto Mexicano, six male vocalists, February 27; and Fou Ts'ong, world renowned Chinese pianist, March 15.

Attendance is limited to members of the association, and membership cards will be mailed to members on October 1.

Included are rare scenes of holy men at prayer in a gem-like Moslem mosque; the King visiting his people; mountain tribes celebrating; desert nomads on the move; veiled Afghan women; natives wearing curly-toed shoes.

Raphael Green's adventurous nature stems from his rugged Maine background. After several years as a Maine high school teacher and three years in the armed services, Green turned to the fields of travel and photography. Later, while on the White House staff, he went to the Far East on a diplomatic mission. Mr. Green was one of 11 Americans to travel in North Korea above the 38° parallel with the United States Reparations Survey. He has also traveled extensively in Manchuria, China, Japan, Afghanistan, and many thousands of miles in Russia. As director-cameraman on the Audio-Visual Education Staff at the University of Minnesota, Raphael Green has had wide experience in producing educational and television films, many of which are in national circulation.

Guest Speaker For Church In The Round Inauguration Sunday

The Church in the Round, Carmel's newest religious group, will hold its inauguration service Sunday at 11:00 o'clock in the morning in the Cypress Club with the Reverend Felix Danford Lion as guest speaker.

Reverend Lion, minister of the Palo Alto Unitarian Church, will speak on The Message of Religious Liberalism, before members of the new congregation and their guests.

The organization, incorporated early this week, has purchased three acres for a future church site at the intersection of Highway One and Aguajito Road, but will meet regularly in Carmel on Sunday mornings until the church is built. The Reverend Karel V. Vit will be permanent minister of the group.

Although church school classes will begin in the fall for young people of all ages, during the summer a special interest group will be provided for school-age youngsters, with sinner services for infants.

Reverend Lion, a frequent speaker for liberal religious groups on the West Coast, has been minister of the Palo Alto church for the past dozen years, following similar posts in Unitarian churches in New

Riviera Rivals California Coast, Except For Beaches, Durell Decker Observes In Latest Travel Report

After completing two years of college, Durell Decker left last autumn for Europe. Since then she has traveled from country to country making her headquarters in youth hostels, her costs ranging from $50-$70 a month. She reports her travels in letters to her parents, Mr. and Mrs. Fred Decker. The Pine Cone has published these accounts. Her last letter had Durell about to enter France from Italy. She expected to be back here this spring. However, during almost a month's stay in Morocco, she was offered a job with the Moroccan Associated Press in Rabat and will start work on June 1. In the meantime she is completing her "grand tour."

During February, Durell visited Monte Carlo and saw the gambling casino and the palace of Prince Rainier and Princess Grace. "If I had not looked twice, I would have thought I was in Pebble Beach," she observes.

Durell followed the Mediterranean shore from Italy to France. Of this region she says, "The Italian-French Riviera is one of the loveliest sights I have ever seen. As much as I love California, I must admit this coastline rivals ours in beauty. However, they are quite different."

She arrived in Nice and stayed there two days longer than she had planned. Durell reports, "Nice is warm and people are basking on the beach in bikinis. Our beaches are certainly better than those here. Imagine trying to get a sun tan on top of a pile of rocks as big as fists! But, I suppose to persons who know nothing of the white, smooth, soft sand of Carmel, the rocks are quite comfortable."

"Nice is lovely. It is in the center section of a small bay and extends inland to the foot of mountains. On either side of the bay are pinnacles of forested land with snow-capped mountains in the distance above the pinnacles."

"There are lovely parks in the heart of the city stretching several blocks inland from the coast. These parks are filled with sunning chairs which are occupied by residents and visitors each afternoon."

"Surrounding the plaza with its several fountains is a shady arbor. Here one may walk, or sit, sheltered from the sunshine by arches of vines overhead."

Leaving Nice, Durell visited a perfume factory in Grasse.

"The factories in this area," she continues, "make the bases for all French perfumes. It takes one metric ton of flowers to produce two litres of perfume. At the factory, one and one quarter ounces of a certain perfume cost $3.70. The same quantity of the same perfume in the United States sells for $52.00."

The evening of the day she went to the perfume factory, Durell called on the sister of Ken Mathews of Carmel. "The Smuks family," she writes, "were delightful people who served me delicious honey cake."

After the visit, Durell continued on to Frejus, "the Pompeii of Provence," where she spent the night in a youth hostel. "This entire area is covered with Roman ruins, especially aqueducts," she states.

Journeying on, she drove with two other youth hostellers to Marseilles, looked at the port, then went on to Arles and ended the day in a youth hostel in Avignon.

Besides seeing the bridge made famous in a French song, Durell toured the palace of the 14th century popes in Avignon, and was impressed with the large wall which fortified the area in former times.

In the afternoon of the same day, she and her companions continued on to Nimes and Perpignan.

Of the youth hostels in which she stayed during this part of her European explorations, Durell states, "I didn't care for the first hostel in which I stayed in Nice, so moved to another which does not belong to the International Youth Hostel Association, but which charges the same price."

"Here I observed one of the best examples of Socialism I ever hope to see. Evidently an elderly lady died leaving her mansion in such a shambles that no one wished to purchase it. Then ten or 12 persons pooled their resources, bought it and fixed it up."

"I believe the mansion has never seen such good days. All facilities are modern, clean and freshly painted. It's warm, too."

"Each of the owners is in charge of some part of the house and keeps it in perfect order. No one is paid a salary. All profits go into a community pool."

"The organization has been in operation for five years and with the profits from the renovated Nice mansion, the group has purchased two more houses, one in

Cap D'ail, one on the Cote d'Azur.

"An interesting point about this group is that two of its members are Negroes. I have seen more Negroes on the French Riviera than any other place in Europe, even Belgium."

"Another point about this hostel was that although we paid a high price for the evening meal, we got seconds, if you could ask for such, at no extra charge. This is the first time I have encountered this in Europe."

Discussing changes in languages from country to country, Durell observes, "An Italian is sorry he does not speak your language and tries very hard to understand what you want and goes out of his way to help you secure it. I have never met a more patient people than the Italians, and that is, perhaps, why I picked up so much of their language in six weeks, they are happy to help you learn it."

"It was difficult to switch languages again when we reached France but, because of necessity, my French was recalled quite quickly. Thank goodness I had to use it in Belgium or I am sure I would be at a much greater loss!"

"Soon I shall be in Spain. A new language, a new people, new customs, a new money system!"

Music On The Peninsula

BY MARY LINDSAY-OLIVER

On Saturday evening at Monterey Peninsula College, a small opera for three performers, The Marriage Proposal, by William Purdy, was given its premiere performance to an audience that filled the music hall. Written by one of our gifted local composers, whose work with Sunset School choral groups cannot leave him much time for composing, The Marriage Proposal is, therefore, a great credit to him.

The plot is taken from a play by Anton Chekhov and is about a would-be but reluctant lover, who, even with help from the girl's father, is too shy to propose to the high-spirited daughter of a Russian peasant.

Resultant scenes of remorse and antagonism, also many funny attitudes, are comic entertainment, though the author somewhat ambiguously calls it, "serious comedy."

In recitatives, arias, duets and trios, the music of The Marriage Proposal throughout has much dissonance, but is not without melody and some attractively repeated rhythms, and is quite in keeping with the logical (or illogical) temper of its characters. Though, somewhat dominated by the piano fortissimo, but with good pianism by the composer at the piano, its theatrical import was clearly in evidence Saturday night.

Perhaps no composer can know his or her best idioms at an early stage, but Purdy has time ahead of him to develop his undoubted talent. He deserves praise for his timely effort, and the college congratulations for presenting a resident composer, not just those from elsewhere.

Today there is no longer servility only to those of metropolitan or foreign origin. Genius arises in very unexpected places if the populace recognizes it.

The three singers carried the score with feeling for the parts. Karen Steinke, as the daughter, had some trying intervals to compass but, as always, came through with a convincing performance. John Farr's voice is always pleasingly musical and he managed to put some irate timbre into his complete disguise as the father, with acting ability we did not know he had. Larry Swanson, as the lovesick tenor in a physical collapse from fear, sustained a difficult attitude for singing. When performed for a second time next Sunday, I hope to hear the opera again. The public is admitted free.

At the Robert Louis Stevenson School in Pebble Beach, Eugene Jones, bass-baritone, was heard Sunday evening in recital accompanied by Gilbert Boyer.

Headmaster Robert Rickles introduced the artists and spoke again after intermission. Possessing a voice of excellent timbre, Jones uses it not only with distinction but also with fine dramatic instinct. His remarks on Anderson Weill's Lost in the Stars, based on Alan Paton's book, Cry, the Beloved Country, added to his appeal to the boys and a number of visitors who listened intently in the filled hall.

Seldom does a bass-baritone show the agility that Jones did together with the warmth and depth of feeling of his race. Why Do The Nations So Furiously Rage Together? from Handel's The Messiah, raged both from the singer and the pianist. The same effect was given, too, in Arm, Arm Ye Brave from Judas Maccabaeus.

But it was in the opera arias from Verdi's Don Carlo and Simon Boccanegra, and the prologue from Leoncavallo's Pagliacci, that the whole range and versatility of Jones's voice was exhibited, especially some extraordinary musical value in his lowest tones.

In the Burleigh Negro spirituals, sung in passionate undertones, his pianissimos were so perfectly and clearly enunciated as to be astonishing. Boyer accompanied with good judgment and his ever-ready piano technique. Both artists received sustained applause.

Wilderness Of The West

A monthly column
By C. Edward Graves

39. THE FOREST OF NESINE MARKS

A very important announcement has just been made in the field of wilderness conservation. Monterey County is the scene of a nationally significant project which has resulted in the setting aside of a redwood forest of some 10,000 acres for an addition to California's state park system. Most of the property was donated by Herman, Agnes and Andrew Marks, pioneer residents of the county, as a memorial to their mother, Nesine Marks, for whom it is to be named.

Generosity of this kind, based on filial affection, is rare. The property is valued at about five million dollars and the cost to the State is about one-tenth of this amount, necessary to retire an existing mortgage. The Marks family deserves the deep gratitude of every Californian who loves the natural beauties of the state. Their own appreciation of this beauty and of its value in our civilization is the main spring in this remarkable gift.

The property in question lies in the hill country north and east of Aptos in Santa Cruz County. The stipulation in the gift that the central part of the property shall remain as an undeveloped wilderness is cause for gratitude to all conservationists and reflects the personal concern of Herman Marks, who is the most active member of the family in completing the project. In an all-day trip to the forest a few months ago with officials of the State Division of Beaches and Parks and of the Nature Conservancy, he showed the greatest sensitivity as to the real value of undiluted wilderness. He agreed reluctantly to allow the development of camp-sites on about a quarter of the property on the lower outside portions, but the heart of the property, forested with redwoods, madrones, tan-bark oaks and associated tree growth, he insisted should be enjoyed only by those who are willing to forego temporarily the use of mechanical types of locomotion.

The Nature Conservancy and its local Monterey Bay Chapter played a key role in this project. This organization is dedicated to the work of saving natural areas of this kind all over the United States. In this instance new ground was broken and the usefulness of the organization in acting as a holding agency, taking possession of the property until the State can find funds to take it over, was pioneered.

National officers from the organization's headquarters at Washington, D. C., and members of the Western Administrative Board joined with officers of the Monterey Bay Chapter in completing the deal. However, the initiative came from the local chapter and John R. McDaniel, chairman of this chapter, deserves most of the credit for it. Without the Monterey Bay Chapter there would today be no Forest of Nesine Marks.

The Marks family should be heartily thanked for the gift of another tract of 120 acres of wooded land just across the highway east of the south end of Point Lobos State Park. Part of this property is watered by Gibson Creek, a free-flowing all-year stream which empties into the ocean at the south end of the park. Part of it lies on a high hillside with extensive views of Point Lobos and the coast country. Small groves of the rare Gowan cypress are found in this portion. This too will be a wilderness area, reached only by trails. It is too fragile for roads or camp development.

FROM A LIBRARIAN'S NOTEBOOK

By Ruth Galvin Thornburg

We seem to be entering a summer slump in book publishing, and that even before summer is actually here. A few good ones rear their shining heads, and one of these is The Guns of August by Barbara Tuchman. The August is that of the year 1914, when the first battles of the European War were beginning and the first results of ten years of preparation for war were being seen. The book begins with the funeral of Edward VII in May of 1910. The events of the next four years which lead to the war are carefully recounted with the dreadful action of August 1914 comprising the final section of the book. Thorough research, excellent style, valuable historical information, all are in this book.

Erle Stanley Gardner has made many trips to Baja California. The latest was partly to explore, and partly to try out a new method of transportation by means of a small machine called a pak-jak. Mr. Gardner describes it as being a cross between a motorcycle, a scooter, and an Army tank. The party also used boats, planes, helicopters, mules and trucks, but the pak-jaks were the novelty and thus the heroes of the story. The title of the book is Hovering Over Baja California, which is where the helicopters come into the picture, of course. For fans of Gardner, for nature lovers, for those especially interested in Baja California, this book is a must.

In his book The Continuity of American Poetry, Roy Harvey Pierce takes us on a literary journey from Puritan culture, and the poetry which resulted therefrom, down through the years to today and modern poetry. It is all here, the words, the meanings, the symbolism, the schools. We have requests for this type of information because poetry today is often hard to understand. The author formerly taught at the University of California and is now a professor of poetry at the University of Ohio.

If a woman wants to feel younger, she should read the books of Old Ricketts Sumner. But a man might find it more inspiring to read the life story of Satchel Paige. The story of Old Satch runs from the slums of Mobile to the major leagues and money. His book is called Maybe I'll Pitch Forever and after 42 years of pitching it may be that he will do just that.

Paul de Kruif is perhaps best known for The Microbe Hunters, but he has 12 other successful books to his credit, all of them about science and scientists. Now he writes about himself. The Sweeping Wind is the story of his own life. But it is more than that. It is the story of the work, the trials, and the successes of the men and women he has associated with all his life. This is a book that teems with people and spans four decades.

Twenty-two new books! Maybe this isn't a slump period after all.

EDITOR TO LECTURE AT MPC

William F. Buckley Jr., editor of National Review and author of God and Man at Yale and other books, will speak at Monterey Peninsula College tomorrow evening at 8:00 o'clock.

The last speaker in MPC's spring evening lecture series, he will discuss The Breakdown of the Intellectuals in Public Affairs. The public is invited by the Evening Division to attend without charge.

Dr. Hagen

Dr. Horace J. Hagen died on April 26 at his home in Pebble Beach following a short period of illness.

A practitioner of internal medicine at San Luis Obispo for 26 years, Dr. Hagen retired in 1955 to move to the Peninsula. He was a native of Fargo, North Dakota, where he was born January 5, 1899. His medical education was obtained at White Medical School in Los Angeles.

Survivors include Dr. Hagen's wife, Mrs. Mamie Scaroni Hagen of Pebble Beach, and a son, Dr. John Hagen of Los Angeles.

Requiem Mass was celebrated on Monday morning at Carmel Mission Basilica after brief rites earlier in the funeral chapel.

Lucille Clow

Mrs. Lucille Waldron Clow of Carmel died in Salinas on April 27 following a long period of failing health.

Mrs. Clow, 62, a descendant of one of America's famous families and a resident of Carmel for many years, had suffered a broken hip last summer in a fall.

Born in Richland, Oregon, on May 3, 1899, Mrs. Clow was a descendant through her maternal ancestry of Miles Standish and through her paternal ancestry of the Earl of Waldron.

She leaves her husband, Elmer Clow of Carmel; a son, Elmer Clow Jr., of San Bruno; a daughter Mrs. Evelyn Labadie of San Mateo, and nine grandchildren.

Funeral arrangements were made in San Mateo.

Walter Carr

Funeral services were held Tuesday in Palo Alto for Walter W. Carr of Pebble Beach, who died unexpectedly on April 27 in a Carmel restaurant.

Requiem High Mass was celebrated at St. Albert the Great Church Tuesday morning, with interment following at Holy Cross Cemetery, Colma.

A native San Franciscan, Mr. Carr had lived at Marchetta Lane and Bird Rock for the past six years. Prior to his retirement, he had been in the automotive business for 30 years.

Mr. Carr was a member of Palo

Alto BPOE Lodge 1471, the Carmel Art Association and the Monterey Peninsula Country Club.

In addition to his wife, Mrs. Alice Carr, he is survived by a son, Gavin Carr of Palo Alto; a sister, Mrs. Josephine Minchan, also of Palo Alto; a brother, George Carr of Oakland, and two grandchildren.

Claire Puffer

Mrs. Claire Puffer, long-time resident of Carmel Highlands, died April 27 in a local rest home following a prolonged period of failing health. She was 95 years old.

She and her husband, the late William Lord Puffer, whose death occurred in 1947, were among the first residents of the Highlands, establishing their family home there some 45 years ago.

Mrs. Puffer was the aunt of Mrs. Vincent Sheerin of Garden City, New York, and Mrs. R. A. Niebell of Landover Hills, Maryland, both of whom survive her.

A native of New York state, Mrs. Puffer was born October 29, 1866, and lived much of her early life in the Eastern United States.

Final rites were held Monday morning at Forest Lawn Memorial Park, Glendale.

Peggy Garretson Is Engaged

Mr. and Mrs. J. E. Garretson of Carmel Hills are announcing the engagement of their daughter, Peggy Kathleen, to Victor Paul Allen, the son of Mrs. Nadine Allen of Southgate and Paul Allen of Los Angeles.

The wedding will take place June 30 in the Chapel in the Pines, Pacific Grove, with the Reverend Harold Shields officiating.

Peggy is a member of this year's graduating class at Carmel High School. She has three sisters, Mrs. Janice White, Mrs. Ernest Davi (Bernice Garretson), and Earline, a sophomore at Carmel High School.

Her fiancé, a 1960 graduate of Huntington Park High School, is serving aboard the United States Coast Guard cutter Ewing.

Tomorrow evening Mrs. Garretson is giving a shower for her daughter. Over 70 friends and classmates will gather at the Garretson home in Stewart Place to give Peggy their good wishes.

Perry-Mansfield Plans

Charlotte Perry and Portia Mansfield will leave Carmel soon after May 18 for their school of theatre and dance in Steamboat Springs, Colorado, where there will be much activity and preparation for the 1962 Perry-Mansfield Theatre Festival, including the possible clearing away of some of the winter's 10 feet of snow.

The festival will open July 27 and 28 with John Masefield's The Tragedy of Nan. Another play, Jean Anouilh's Thieves' Carnival, directed by Charlotte Perry, will be produced in August. Also in August, there will be matinees by the Children's Theatre and an Evening of Dance. In addition to the festival, the regular session of the school will be from June 28 through August 19. There will be a children's camp with instruction in the theatre and dance, and, following the regular summer season, a four-day dance seminar.

"Altogether," comments Miss Mansfield, "a three-ring circus!"

Portia Mansfield heads the school's dance department, and Charlotte Perry is director of the theatre department.

At Army Pictorial Center

Second Lieutenant Paul T. Prince, the son of Mrs. Dorothy Prince of Carmel, was recently assigned to the Army Pictorial Center, Long Island City, New York, as a television project officer.

Lieutenant Prince graduated from Carmel High School in 1957 and from Stanford University in 1961.

School Employees' Workshop

A workshop sponsored by the California School Employees Association, will be held Saturday at the Salinas High School. School employees in Santa Cruz and Monterey Counties will participate.

Carmel school district employees who will take part in the workshop include Frank Girard and Robert Turner of the High School maintenance staff; Ed Goodrick, district director of transportation operations; Arthur Williams, High School gardener; Oscar Miller and Rene Brunet, High School custodians; Leon Gilmore and Charles Beales, Sunset School custodians; Miss Mary Stewart Hoopes, Sunset School secretary; Mrs. Arline Tapline, River School secretary; Mrs. Frances Turner, High School cafeteria manager; Mrs. Alice Pearson, Sunset School cafeteria manager; Mrs. Elsie Wilmot, Tulare School cafeteria manager; Mrs. Frances Raymond, Tulare School secretary.

Japanese Dancer at Nepenthe

This week end Fujinami Midori will be presented at Nepenthe in a program of classical and modern Japanese dances.

There will be three performances: tomorrow at 8:00 o'clock in the evening; Saturday afternoon at 3:00 o'clock; and Sunday afternoon at 3:00 o'clock.

Clarks Tell About Trip

Last week end Mr. and Mrs. Elton Clark came from Los Angeles to visit Mr. Clark's parents, Dr. and Mrs. Howard E. Clark. This visit was the first opportunity for Elton and Dona to hear firsthand about the recent trip taken by Dr. and Mrs. Clark who flew to Hong Kong, then traveled on a Norwegian freighter through the South China Sea to Singapore, continued on with the ship to Sumatra, Penang and Kuala Lumpur in Malaya, crossed the Java Sea, went through the Straits of Makassar to South Borneo and the Celebes Sea to North Borneo, then over the Sulu Sea to the Philippines.

In Manila, Dr. Clark took a plane home, but Mrs. Clark flew to Hong Kong again and spent some time in Japan before returning to Carmel.

She was most impressed by the need for teachers expressed by the people of the different countries the Clarks visited.

"They all want better education for their children and this means more teachers especially in areas where three school sessions of two hours daily is the only way to handle the number of school-age children. In Hong Kong, we saw children returning from school at 7:00 o'clock at night," Mrs. Clark says.

She also reports that CARE packages and the Peace Corps are both highly appreciated in these parts of the world. But most of all "They are excited about education," she emphasizes.

Symphony Preview Tea

The Monterey County Symphony Guild will hold a symphony preview tea at 2:00 o'clock Tuesday afternoon at All Saints' Church.

John Gosling, Monterey County Symphony conductor, will discuss The Beginning of Program Music in the Pre-Baroque Period. Musical demonstrations will be given by H. M. M. Nicholas and the Harmony Hill Trio.

Final Audubon Society Meeting

The final meeting of the Monterey Peninsula Audubon Society will be held at the Hatton Ranch on Sunday afternoon, at 1:00 o'clock. Those attending should meet at the ranch at 9:00 o'clock. Directions are: follow the Salinas-Monterey Highway to the Corral de Tierra Road; turn at the service station and proceed to Calera Canyon Road at the four corners. The ranch is at the end of the Calera Canyon Road. Lunches should be packed for a picnic at noon.

Committee Elects New Officers

At a meeting of the Monterey Peninsula College Citizens Committee for International Students on Tuesday afternoon, Mrs. Howard E. Clark was elected chairman for the coming year; Mrs. Leonard Fletcher, vice chairman; and Miss Rosabelle Haman, secretary-treasurer.

During Easter vacation, 30 foreign MPC students, accompanied by Mrs. Clark, Mrs. Walter Lehmann and five American students spent two days in the San Francisco area and the foreign students were overnight guests of members of the San Francisco Hospitality Committee in private homes.

The two-day trip included a visit to the Westinghouse plant near San Jose, Stanford University, San Francisco museums, Fisherman's Wharf, Chinatown, and Sausalito.

Mrs. Lehmann's younger son, Hans, joined the group in San Francisco to help show the city to the visitors from MPC.

Queen Ginger Reigns At Prom

On Saturday night Carmel High School's gymnasium was miraculously transformed into the glamorous interior of an ocean liner's ballroom. The occasion was the Junior-Senior prom. The theme of the dance was Harbor Lights and the highlight of the evening was the announcement of the Prom Queen and her attendants, who had been chosen by ballot from among the senior girls by members of the junior class.

When the big moment arrived, Queen Ginger Laky was escorted to an emerald green throne, and her two attendants, Susie Petersen and Susan Shirley, were seated on either side of her on red velvet chairs.

Honored By Insurance Company

John Monroe of Carmel has qualified for the Knight in Armor Club, outstanding agents' organization of the Travelers Insurance Company. He will be cited for his notable production in life insurance.

Mr. Monroe, who grew up in Carmel and is a graduate of Carmel High School, attended Stanford University for two years, spent three years in the Army, then completed his education at the University of California at Berkeley.

He and his wife, who comes from Newport Beach, and their two children, Lynn Kathleen, four, and Michael Douglas, 18 months old, have made their home in Carmel for the past three years.

Mundt Brothers' Activities

Army Private First Class Neal on A. Mundt, the son of Mrs. Annette C. Knights, who has made her home in Carmel for the past 18 months, is a member of the 1st Division's 8th Infantry, which is scheduled to provide support for the Fifth U. S. Army Rifle and Pistol Matches at Fort Riley, Kansas, this week.

Private Mundt, after graduating from Menlo Atherton High School, spent two years in Rome, living with an Italian family and studying art first at the University of Rome, later with a private teacher. He enlisted in the U. S. Army in Livorno, Italy, and was later sent to Kansas — "something of a contrast to Rome," comments his mother. After leaving the service, Nealon hopes to go on studying art, either here or abroad.

Meanwhile, Nealon's younger brother, Randolph, has interrupted his junior year at the University of California at Berkeley long enough to join a United States Geodetic Commission survey of the Christmas Island area to test the fallout from the current nuclear tests. In conjunction with the United States Coast Guard, the survey is manning a small destroyer-like ship "full of scientists and all their equipment." Randolph plans to resume his college career when this particular adventure is completed.

Granddaughter For Williamses

"I have a niece!" wrote six-year-old Molly Williams last week on postcards sent from Los Angeles to her school friends here.

Molly's parents, Dr. and Mrs. Russell Williams of Carmel Highlands, have a new grandchild, the daughter of Dr. and Mrs. Ben Chaffey of West Los Angeles. The baby, who is also the granddaughter of Mr. and Mrs. John Chaffey of Pacific Grove, was born April 25, weighed eight and one-half pounds, and has been named Margaret Hamilton after her other aunt, Margaret ("Honey") Williams, a junior at Carmel High School.

Margaret has a brother, John Ellsworth Chaffey, who will be three years old this month. Her mother, the former Marian Williams, graduated from Carmel High School, attended Stanford University, and is a member of the class of 1958 of Radcliffe College. Her father, a graduate of Stanford and Harvard Medical School, is assistant resident in urology at the University of California at Los Angeles Hospital.

The baby's uncles are John Williams, a sophomore at the University of Chicago; John Chaffey, a student at McGill University Medical School; and William Chaffey, who teaches at the Desert Sun School in Idyllwild.

Mrs. Williams and Molly, who have been visiting the Chaffeys in Los Angeles while awaiting the happy event, are expected home next week.

Popoffs On Polar Flight

Mr. and Mrs. George Popoff and their daughters, Greta and Pauline, recently flew over the pole to Europe. The Popoffs are taking part in a California Motel Association European Trade Commission tour visiting eight countries to promote California vacations for Europeans.

Miss Lindsay-Oliver was assisted in serving by Mrs. Eugene Harrah, Mrs. Charles Trumbly, Mrs. Mary Louise Waterbury, Miss Ora Fallis and Mrs. Madge Boyd.

Included in those who enjoyed the affair were Judge Eugene Harrah, Symphony Association president, Conductor John Gosling and Mrs. Gosling, Mayor and Mrs. Eben Whittlesey, Mrs. Barry Jones, Mr. and Mrs. Fritz Wurzmach, and their daughter, Renee, Mr. and Mrs. Stanley Cummings, Daniel Llords and his manager, Jones, of Llords International, the Reverend H. M. M. Nicholas, Mr. and Mrs. John Farr, Mrs. Walter Lehmann, Mr. and Mrs. Laidlaw Williams, Axel Duwe, Miss Angie Machado, Dr. Harvey Marshall, William Ford Purdy, Mrs. Marie Sale, Mrs. Elisabeth DuVal, Miss Sheila Webster, King Benton, Mr. and Mrs. John Peterson, Miss Charlotte Perry, Mr. and Mrs. George Podbereski, Mrs. Audrey Richardson, Morris F. On-Hospital Council Board

Thomas E. Tonkin, administrator of the Peninsula Community Hospital, is a member of the board of directors of the newly formed Hospital Council of Northern California.

Over 100 hospitals in the San Francisco Bay area and northern coastal region are represented in the new organization, whose purpose is to "seek areawide solutions to areawide problems in the hospital and health field," and to obtain the highest possible level of service from hospitals and related facilities in the community.

President of the Council is Harold H. Hixson, administrator of the University of California Hospitals in San Francisco.

Auditions Sunday For Summer Musicals At Studio Theatre

On Sunday afternoon at 2:00 o'clock the Studio Theatre will audition singers, actors and dancers for its summer musicals. The opening production will be Frank Loesser's Where's Charley?

At the present time, the theatre is considering either Irving Berlin's Call Me Madam or Jean and Walter Kerr's Goldilocks as the second production. Ben Small, former Peninsula actor and director, will stage the musicals for producers Betty Hackett, Royden Martin and John Halloran.

Noel Coward's popular comedy, Relative Values, which has been delighting audiences at the theatre, will conclude its successful run with this weekend's performances on Friday and Saturday nights at 8:30 o'clock. Included in director Barbara Horder West's fine cast are Mildred Cushing, Julie Conway Sherry, Edgar Pye and Anita Tonn.

Clifford Berry has returned to the Studio this week to resume his position as manager. For information concerning the auditions and the summer season telephone Mr. Berry at MA 4-1661.

Anne Pidgeon

Mrs. Anne Elizabeth Pidgeon of Carmel died Wednesday morning in a local hospital. She was 74.

Wife of the late George E. Pidgeon, who died in 1954, Mrs. Pidgeon was born in Red Oak, Iowa, and had also lived in Helena, Montana, before coming to Carmel some six years ago.

The Pidgeon home in Carmel was at Monte Verde and Fourth.

Mrs. Pidgeon leaves a daughter, Mrs. Katherine P. Bradley of Kentfield, and a sister, Mrs. Bonnie J. Mateer of Carmel.

Private funeral rites were solemnized yesterday at the Little Chapel-by-the-Sea. The Paul Mortuary has been in charge of arrangements.

BE KIND TO ANIMALS WEEK, MAY 6-12

Forty-eight years ago the American Humane Association was founded to end cruelty to animals. Your Monterey County S.P.C.A. is a member of that national association which numbers over 500 affiliates.

The 1962 Be Kind to Animals Week theme is A little hand, a lot of help—stressing that proper animal care and handling are the most important ways to be kind to animals.

Adopting an animal is a responsibility for the pet's lifetime. There are circumstances when one must place a pet for adoption. Pets brought to the society's shelter at David Avenue and Lottie Street in Monterey (FR 5-3333) will be well cared for until a good home can be found for them.

For stray animals the County Pound at Marina should be called (EX 4-2101) as your taxes support this service.

The Monterey County S.P.C.A. depends entirely on donations and membership dues for its existence. Will you help us help our animal friends? Our address is Box 1335, Monterey. —Marjorie Fontana, President, Monterey County Society for the Prevention of Cruelty to Animals.

All Saints' To Honor South African Cleric And Foe Of Apartheid

Christianity's most articulate spokesman in Africa, the Archbishop of Capetown and Metropolitan of South Africa, the Most Reverend Joost de Blank, D.D., will be honored in All Saints' Episcopal Church Tuesday evening at 8:00 o'clock. A special Service of Witness will be held in his honor bringing together choirs and clergy from churches throughout central California. The archbishop will be guest at a reception in the Parish Hall following the service. He will be accompanied by his assistant bishop of Kimberly and Kuruman, the Right Reverend Philip Wheelodon, D.D.

An outspoken foe of apartheid in South Africa, the Archbishop has been widely praised and damned for his strong convictions as to the immorality of segregation. His Capetown cathedral boasts the welcoming sign "This cathedral is open at all times for all races."

Ironically, Bishop De Blank is of Dutch Reformed extraction. He graduated from Queen's College, Cambridge, and served in World War II as chaplain to the forces serving in Syria, Egypt and Europe. Seriously wounded in 1944, he was hospitalized for a year. In 1952 he was consecrated a Suffragan Bishop of London serving the district of Stepney, in London's East End. His enthusiastic work to revitalize the Christian movement there made him much in demand as a preacher, also a speaker on radio and television. Author of several books about Christianity in contemporary life, he has written Saints At Sixty Miles An Hour, Uncomfortable Words, and This Is Conversion.

He was elected Archbishop of Capetown in 1957 and became immediately involved in Christian witness to Africa. At the 1958 Anglican Lambeth Conference he was chairman of the committee on the reconciling of conflicts between and within nations. Currently on a tour of the United States, he will be an over-night guest of the Carmel parish.

Carmel Resident, Microbiologist, Next On MPC Series

Professor Cornelius B. Van Niel, microbiologist at Stanford University's Hopkins Marine Station in Pacific Grove, will be the final lecturer in the Monterey Peninsula College Arts, Sciences and Humanities series.

He will speak Monday and again on May 14 on Science and Humanities, 8:00 o'clock each evening in the MPC library lecture hall. The public is invited to attend. A fee of 50 cents will be collected at the door on each occasion.

Dr. Van Niel has been Herzstein professor of biology at Hopkins since 1946.

Born in Haarlem, Netherlands, he obtained his Chem. E. and D. Sc. degrees at Technical University, Delft, Netherlands, and was awarded honorary D. Sc. degrees by Princeton University and Rutgers in 1946 and 1954.

He was conservator of the Delft Technical University microbiology laboratory from 1924-28; associate professor of microbiology at Hopkins 1928-35, and full professor there until 1946.

Dr. Van Niel was chairman of the advisory committee on biochemistry for the Office of Naval Research 1950-53. His papers on his subject have appeared widely in scientific journals.

He has made his home in Carmel for many years.

Opposition Rises To Parking Lot Financing Plan

Morse stated that he had in mind a surtax device to carry out the purpose of the ordinance. However, he said he needed guidance from the committee on administration (Whittlesey and Whitaker) to determine differentials for the surtax in certain business categories.

Presently, the amount of business license tax differs according to the category in which a business is placed.

In his original motion proposing the increase in business license taxes for off-street parking, Councilman Whitaker proposed the ordinance governing this should "have regard for sliding scales."

At the end of last night's meeting, Mayor Whittlesey and Councilman Whitaker stated they intend to have the ordinance ready for council consideration next Wednesday evening.

An urgency ordinance to prohibit all motorized vehicles from the beach and dune area, also Devendorf Plaza and the Mission and First Street park, will also be considered by the council next week.

This action was proposed following a report from Police Commissioner Buffington which contained the information that no such prohibition now exists and that a possible invasion of the city during the Laguna Seca races can be controlled by the ordinance. (The sports car event, June 9-10, includes motorcycle competition for the first time.)

Appointments made by the mayor last night were: Councilman Whitaker, Carmel representative to the area planning commission; Councilman Buffington, in the same capacity to Monterey Bay Area Division of the League of California Cities.

Will Shaw Injured

Will Shaw, president of the Monterey Bay chapter of the American Institute of Architects, was injured yesterday afternoon in an accident and taken to Monterey Hospital in the Red Cross ambulance operated by the Carmel Volunteer Fire Department.

A car driven by Shaw collided with one driven by John B. Monte of Monterey at the intersection of San Antonio Street and Eighth Avenue. Shaw's car came to rest upside down following the impact. A door had to be forced to remove him from the vehicle.

Ten stitches were required to close a wound in his head. Other injuries discovered by the physician who treated him at the hospital were a bruised and strained left wrist, an abrasion on one arm, numerous aches and bruises.

TREE TOUR

Carmel city councilmen will consider four matters on their monthly tree tour meeting Tuesday afternoon starting from city hall at 4:00 o'clock.

The council will consider planting additional trees at the city-owned Carmel Youth Center site; trimming a tree on Casanova Street between Ninth and Tenth avenues; determine whether recent tree removals on Mission Street between Fourth and Fifth avenues allow construction for parking on the east side of Mission; see whether the P.G.&E. Company may trim a tree for a service pole at Monte Verde Street and Fifth Avenue.

Hirshbein To Play For Music Society Membership Concert

Pianist Omus Hirshbein, who lived in Carmel during service with the U.S. Army, will return here on May 19 to play at the annual membership meeting of the Carmel Music Society in Sunset School auditorium, 8:30 o'clock in the evening.

The artist received his early training in Los Angeles where he appeared extensively in recitals and with orchestras. Before his induction into the Army in 1957, he was under contract to the National Broadcasting Company and presented a series of live piano recitals on television. During this time, he also appeared several times in Canada.

Shortly before he left in 1959, he gave a recital in Carmel. Since that time Omus Hirshbein has been at the Juilliard School of Music where he is a scholarship student of Madame Rosina Lhevinne and Jeaneane Dowis. He has given recitals in the New York area, in Canada, and at the Aspen Music School during this period.

Douglas Carter

William Douglas Carter of Carmel died unexpectedly yesterday morning in a local hospital annex following a heart attack at his home, Mission and Tenth streets.

He was 79 years old and a native of Quincy, Illinois, where he was born August 1, 1882. A retired mechanical engineer, he had followed his profession for some 40 years, and was last employed by the Shell Oil Company.

Survivors of Mr. Carter are his wife, Mrs. Amelia Carter of Carmel; a son, Richard Carter of Los Angeles, and a sister, Mrs. Josephine Ferry of La Jolla.

Private cremation took place at the Little Chapel-by-the-Sea, Pacific Grove, yesterday afternoon, with the Paul Mortuary in charge.

Tuesday evening at sunset, ten surfers rode even ocean swells off Cooke's Cove at the foot of Thirteenth Street. The Hawaiian-type activity, however, had a Carmel touch. When each rider glided on his surfboard it was seen that a skindiving suit gave protection from the chill of our part of the Pacific.

The Carmel Planning Commission will have a special study session, Thursday afternoon at 4:00 o'clock, on the acquisition of greenbelt and park lands designated on the general plan for the city.

Carmel American Legion Post 512 today invited the public to its annual spring dance Saturday night, 9:00 to 1:00 o'clock, at the Legion hall, Dolores and Eighth streets.

Entertainment, a live (and lively) orchestra, and door prizes were listed as attractions of the evening, which will be a semi-formal dress occasion, according to Paul T. Artellian, post commander. Admission is fifty cents per person.

A continued hearing on the Coast Highway Master Plan will be held in Salinas on Tuesday afternoon, 1:30 o'clock, by the Monterey County Planning Commission.

This plan covers the area from Malpas Creek, south of Carmel Highlands, to the San Luis Obispo County line.

Wearing bright paper hats and a variety of other costumes they made themselves in their classes. River School students danced to recorded folk music at their annual spring festival yesterday morning. Woods students, similarly garbed, had had their own day on Tuesday.

Both festivals were features of Public Schools Week. Tomorrow parents and others interested will have one more day to visit classes and participate in planned activities in connection with the observance.

Sunset students have prepared their own folk and square dance program to be presented at 8:45 o'clock in the gym tomorrow morning. A special session of post-ry reading is open to the public at the same school in Room 10 at 10:50 o'clock.

Tomorrow the three-day Pebble Beach hunter trials and combined training test will begin with dressage competition all day at Pebble Beach Stables.

On Saturday conformation hunter classes, a hack class and a green working hunter class will be held before noon, with the cross country at Bird Rock, a course two miles long with 18 fences, beginning in the afternoon.

Winding up the event Sunday will be stadium jumping and the final combined training tests for working and green hunters. The ring events can be viewed from the grandstand, the cross country from the 17-Mile Drive.
